

XF SERIES

Rain Bird's family of dripline tubing and distribution components have been developed to perform in a variety of applications and landscape challenges

XFD: On-Surface

Pressure compensating inline emitter Dripline - Used for on-surface applications

XFCV: Slopes

Dripline With Heavy-Duty Check Valve - Used for applications where elevation changes exist

XFS: Sub-Surface

Dripline With Copper Shield™ Technology - A sub-surface dripline that can be used for turf or non-turf applications

17mm XF Fittings - Complete line of 17 mm insert fittings to simplify installation of XF Dripline

Easy Fit Compression Fitting System - fittings and adapters for all tubing connection needs in a low-volume system

XF Insertion Tool - Assists you with installing 17mm XF Fittings in less time and with less effort

Tubing Cutter - Stainless steel blade cuts drip tubing cleanly and conveniently for fast installation

Benefits of XF Series Dripline

- Installs easier and quicker
- Increased flexibility
- Doesn't "recoil" during layout
- Offers greater design flexibility
- Can be used in tight and problematic spaces
- Specialized products for surface, slopes, and subsurface
- Provides greater reliability
- Pressure compensating
- Kink-resistant
- Grit-tolerant emitter

Rain Bird® Xeri-Flex™ Dripline

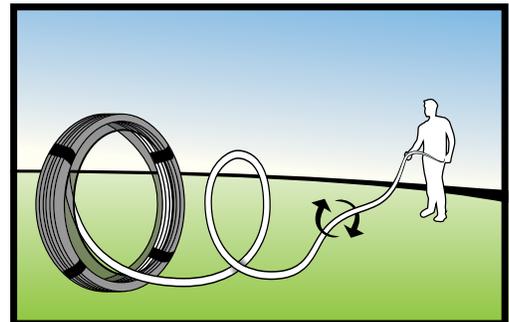

Xeri-Flex Dripline is the most flexible, kink-resistant dripline for easy installation and efficient irrigation of densely-planted areas. Installation times are reduced with the self-dispensing properties of the Dripline. Our three products excel in a variety of landscape challenges.
